Made Its Own Funeral Toilet.

There are certain insects that have such a respect for Mrs. Grundy and are endowed with such an innate love of neatness and order that not even death, or rather decapitation, can prevent them from making one grand final toilet, which is clearly designed to give them a sedate and respectable appearance after death.

Dr. Ballion, a skilled entomologist, discovered this remarkable fact. "During one of my recent horseback rides," he says, "I frequently caught one of those large flies which annoy cattle and horses so much, and I promptly got rid of it by crushing its head. One day, instead of throwing the mutilated insect away, I placed it on the back of my hand and indolently watched it. For some seconds the insect remained motionless, but then, to my unbounded surprise, it moved its front legs forward to the place where the head should have been, and, after it had rubbed them nervously together, apparently in anguish, it began to brush its body and to smooth its wings with its hind legs. Under the gentle pressure of these limbs the body gradually became extended and the extremity curved, while the wings gradually changed their natural position and left the upper part of the body exposed. Meanwhile the hind legs continued to brush each other from time to time.

"Naturally I watched this extraordinary sight with great interest, and, in order to see the finale, I took the insect into my study, where it lived an entire day, spending the time at the ungrateful task of making its own funeral toilet."

Couldn't Resist.

An eccentric clergyman in Cornwall had been much annoyed by the way the members of the congregation had of looking around to see late comers. After enduring it for some time he said on entering the reading desk one day: "Brethren, I regret to see that your attention is called away from your religious duties by your very natural desire to see who comes in behind you. I propose henceforth to save you the trouble by naming each person who may come late."

He then began, "Dearly beloved," but paused half way to interpolate, "Mr. S., with his wife and daughter."

Mr. S. looked rather surprised, but the minister, with perfect gravity, resumed. Presently he again paused. "Mr. C. and William D."

The abashed congregation kept their eyes studiously bent on their books. The service proceeded in the most orderly manner, the parson interrupting himself every now and then to name some newcomer. At last he said, still with the same perfect gravity:

"Mrs. S. in a new bonnet."

In a moment every feminine head in the congregation had turned around.—Millinery Trade Review.

A Mystery of the Sea.

One of the most curious finds ever made from the sea was that which came to the Azores in 1838. The island of Corvo was then in the possession of two runaway British sailors. One morning there drifted ashore a craft which had evidently been frozen in the ice for a long time. It was an ancient and battered brig, without masts, bulwark or name, but the hatches were on, the cabin doors fast, and the hulk was buoyant. She had little cargo, and that consisted of skins and furs in prime condition.

No papers were found in the cabin, but it was figured that she was a sealer or trader, carrying a crew of 10 or 12, and that she had been provisioned for a year. The flour was spoiled, but the beef was perfectly preserved. She had been abandoned when frozen in an iceberg and drifted for years. The date of the letter found in the forecastle showed that the brig had been abandoned nearly half a century before. The two sailors got out the furs, which eventually brought them $4,000, and two barrels of beef and then set fire to the wreck. No trace was ever found of its name or owners.

Just an Ordinary Steak.

"When in Hamburg, we supposed we must do as the Hamburgers did, so at our first meal there we asked for Hamburg steak," said the woman. "Besides, we wanted to see how that viand would taste upon its native heath, anyway. But to all our requests, couched in our best scholastic German, the waiter shook his head. Like many another prophet, the Hamburg steak was apparently without honor in its own country. At all events, our waiter hadn't heard of it. 'Oh, well,' we said, 'just bring us an ordinary beef steak. But, lo and behold, when the meat was served there it was all chopped up and made into small cakes—what Americans call, in fact, 'Hamburg steak!' To Hamburgers a Hamburg steak was an 'ordinary steak.'"—New York Sun.

A Good Scheme.

Mrs. Younghusband—Do you notice any difference in the milk, dear?

Mr. Younghusband—I should say so. This is a much better quality than we have been getting lately.

Mrs. Younghusband—Indeed it is. I got it off a new man, who said he would guarantee it to be perfectly pure. So I bought enough to last for a couple of weeks.

A Boom.

"The undertaker is very jolly this morning."

"Yes. Three hundred new doctors were graduated last night."—Harlem Life.

THE NEW SMELTER IS A FLOWING SUCCESS.

The writer made himself useful to the JOURNAL yesterday morning by walking down the Truckee river bank to the lately erected smelter, to personally observe the mode of ore reduction at the new plant. Everybody seemed to be busy, and the first thing that occurred to him respecting his presence was to keep himself out of the way of busy people, who are not always in a good humor when they find something in their way.

Having planted his person at a safe distance from fire and misfortune, he began to take in the situation as fully as his ignorance would permit. Mr. Hillhouse, the promoter of the smelter scheme at Reno, came and invited him him to walk over to the smelter and learn that ore from a mine discovered early in April of this year, by members of the JOURNAL force, was being received by what seemed the insatiate mow of the new smelter. When he had been persuaded that the furnace and the people who directed the business of smelting were engaged in business which had its meaning, he again placed himself beyond the way of the workmen to wait events, which seemed to be in the near future. Slag was flowing freely from the smelter, which was carried away to a dumping place in a systematic manner. When the writer had examined the slag he was positive there was no copper in the refuse deposited, and at once concluded the copper must be at some other place about the furnace.

When copper ore sufficient has been reduced the metal reservoir was tapped and liquid copper made its appearance which in due time developed into copper mat, which was conclusive of two things, one of which is that the smelter is all right and a flowing success. The others is that those who have had the management and direction of the new industry at Reno in its incipience understood the work they were engaged in. Mr. Cooley, the director in reduction work, is an expert in the business he is engaged in and is fully up to the science of ore reduction by smelting process, which is the only process that can be made successful for the reduction of ninety-nine per cent of all ores in western Nevada, exclusive of Comstock ores.

The smelter supplies one of the chief needs of Washoe county and of western Nevada for the reduction of base ores. Had it been the good fortune of Reno to have had a smelter equal to the one put in operation yesterday when the base ores in Washoe county became known to the miner it would be leading the coast at this time in ore reduction by smelting process, but it was not so ordered in the direction of affairs in this most unfortunate State. The beginning is small when compared with large smelting plants in other parts of the country, but the small acorn and large oak process is still open to the ways of nature and its application to the ways and work of men is as full of meaning at this time as it has been.

The rule applied by nature for oak development should be applied by Reno in the form of new smelters as demands may require its application, which demands will be many more in the next few years than present appearances indicate by the amount of ore there is upon the surface of the ground. The successful work of yesterday will open avenues new to our people, which will lead to fortune through mining industries and it may be to fame.

Mr. Hillhouse made it known to the writer that it was the purpose of the company to make as favorable rates to miners for the reduction of ores as the situation of Reno would justify. The company was of an opinion that eight dollars would be as low a rate as could be given owing to cost of fuel for reduction purposes, but a shipment of coke just received has given figures that will reduce the price of reduction to seven dollars per ton and should it be that future reductions can be made in price the patrons of the company will receive a benefit of an additional reduction per ton in a reduction of charges made. The writer concludes that it is not the intention of the company to take all the traffic will bear which has been a rule of very general application to the people of Nevada which they do not appreciate in any comfortable sense.

CHARLEY TALKS ABOUT DEFEAT.

It was not known from anything that Charley Wallace or any of the gang had said preceding the Democratic and Silver party State conventions that he was directing nominations, but it has developed since the close of these political bodies that his schemes were beaten. The machinery of the parties continued in his hands to the time of the conventions, for which reason it could not be in the nature of things that he should not be present in spirit while he was absent in person.

Those who are directed by Wallace have become so well known to the people that it is not necessary they should wear his brand. The gang and their works are known to each man in the State who is possessed of self respect. The cause for the defeat of Wallace and his schemes had its origin in the self respect of those who made up a majority of the conventions. The Wallace slate was broken by a force usually excluded from conventions in the State, which is manly independence, and which is a principle in the human make-up unknown to any of the gang, and they were taken by surprise when it made an appearance, and were defeated.

The Twentieth Century Club meeting will take place Friday of this week, instead of the week following, as incorrectly stated in our last issue.

A bad piece of sidewalk at the corner of Fourth and Ralston streets was repaired yesterday. For some time it had been a menace to pedestrians.

There will be a meeting of the Kindergarten Association Wednesday, Sept. 12th, at 2:30 p. m., in the old Congregational church building. A full attendance is requested. By order of the President.

Nasby Replies.

RENO, Nev., Sept. 11, 1900.

EDITOR JOURNAL:—In answer to your correspondent in this issue of your paper, will say when interviewed by the Gazette reporter, I said 15th anniversary of President Garfield's death instead of 19th; my mistake, or rather slip of the tongue.

In relation to Senator Broderick's death, the typo made the error. Senator Broderick died September 19, 1859, at Leonard Haskell's house at Black Point, San Francisco, Cal. I attended the funeral of the Senator on the following Sunday. The entire fire department and nearly all the citizens attended the funeral.

Colonel E. D. Baker delivered the eulogy on the deceased senator, at the old plaza at San Francisco, on account of no hall being large enough to hold the crowd. Respectfully,

K.

Republican Meeting.

The Republican County Central Committee will meet at their headquarters in the Bank of Nevada building at 8 o'clock p. m., on Thursday, September 13, 1900, to select a ticket to be voted for at the primaries to be held on September 15, 1900, when the delegates to the county convention will be elected.

All Republicans are cordially invited to be present. Reno precinct is entitled by the apportionment to sixty delegates.

H. B. MAXSON, Chairman.
W. A. FOGG, Secretary.

An Old Sport Robbed.

Lola Raymond, a woman of tarnished fame, is languishing in durance vile. A gray-haired man, aged some 68 years, is the prosecuting witness. He formally complained that while in her house last night he was robbed of $60. Two men were admitted through the back door—this is admitted by Lola—and they threw a blanket over their victim to stifle his cries while they went through his pockets.

Thanksgiving Ball.

The members of Monumental Hose Company, No. 6, have secured the Pavilion for Thanksgiving night and will give another of their famous masquerade balls. No pains or expense will be spared and the public is assured an evening's enjoyment such as only our fire fighters can give. Particulars will be given later.

Confidence Game.

A gentlemanly appearing man applied at the People's store Saturday for a job. He was fitted out with a well-stocked sample case and authorized to drum up trade for the house. Up to the present writing the man and his sample case have whereabouts unknown.

Successful Operation.

Mrs. Frank Dickenson is quite ill at the St. Helena Medical and Surgical Sanitarium where she has just undergone another very serious operation. Her many friends will be pleased to know that she is doing nicely at present.

General Assembly.

General Assembly at the University will be held in the gymnasium at 8 o'clock this afternoon. The subject of the President's address will be "The Reign of Law."

SMELTER IN OPERATION

The Success of This New Enterprise Is Beyond a Doubt.

The mugwumps and lobsters gazed with alarm at the eastern sky yesterday morning and viewed with saddened eyes the smoke arising from the stack of the new smelter.

Their predictions had gone by the board. Four months ago the smelter idea had not been conceived, and six weeks ago construction work had not begun. Yet, in the meantime, a company was organized, stock subscribed and paid for, machinery ordered, a site secured and all the other preliminaries arranged.

A JOURNAL reporter visited the works yesterday and saw ore, coke and fluxes crowded into the furnace mouth and copper and slag flowing from the taps.

The first ore to go into the smelter was from the Webster, Gotwaldt and Webster mine on Dogskin. Peavine was represented by ore from the N. E. and D. Co., Edwards & Norton and Higley mines.

At first the flow of matte was slight, owing to the metal being taken up by the porous walls of the smelter, but later it issued freely from the tap.

The first day's run was eminently successful, the only defect being excess of silica, which made a heavy slag. This matter will be adjusted and the smelter will blow in again Friday morning.

One thing noticeable was lack of fumes, as the ore contained no antimony nor arsenic and little sulphur.

It has been proven conclusively that the new smelter is a success and is being operated by people who understand their business. If the mine owners around Reno stand in with this home industry and treat the intermeddling of Selby's agents with the contempt they deserve, this local enterprise will be the means of putting vast sums of money into circulation and making Reno one of the biggest mining centers on the coast.

Elleford Coming.

Every season the Elleford company pays us a visit and every year Mr. Elleford brings to us something newer and brighter than ever. This year he will arrive with a thoroughly revised company with just a few of the best favorites remaining, including Miss Jessie Norton, the most captivating soubrette that has ever played in this city.

His company now contains many new faces of popular stars, and the plays which Mr. Elleford brings with him are numbered among the very best that money can buy.

With each play he carries special scenery and costumes and the expense he is under this season is nearly double that which it was last year, at the same time his old trade mark prices of ten, twenty and thirty cents will remain the same throughout next week's engagement.

State Fair Notes.

Four carloads of trotters and runners are coming up from California.

Members of the clergy and press living outside of Reno may obtain admission cards by applying to Secretary Bevier.

The bicycle race is expected to attract several thousand people to the fair grounds Monday.

Professor Carra has been awarded the contract to furnish the music at the park and pavilion.

Judging from applications for space already received, the agricultural and mining exhibit will be exceptionally fine.

The Current Is On.

Owing to the burning out of the transformer on Virginia street, the incandescents were on a strike for several nights in the business section of town, but they are now doing duty again.

The 600 light transformer was replaced yesterday by a 500 light and two 100 light transformers.

The cause of the burning out was ascribed by Electrician Askin to overloading it by placing a number of new lights in Commercial Row business houses, without the knowledge of the company.

Classmen in Friendly Battle.

Class spirit is beginning to evidence itself thus early in the term at the University. Yesterday morning an effigy was discovered on the campus blazoned with the placard '03, supposedly the work of members of the junior class.

The freshmen lined up waiting for the sophomores to come and take it down. The '03's were outnumbered and were receiving pretty rough handling from their friends the enemy, when Dr. Stubbs put an end to hostilities.

Get a Hustle On.

Exhibitors are requested to get their displays in shape at the pavilion without delay, so that there will be no rush at the last minute. There promises to be the best display next week that has been made at the State fair for years.

Tom Bates, the versatile advance agent of Elleford's big company, came in over the pike last night and is already rustling business with his coat off.

Better Things Promised.

A Plumas county business man and shipper came into Reno yesterday. He informed the JOURNAL scribe that A. D. Moran of the N-C-O. visited his neighborhood a few days ago and inquired into the conditions that prevail relative to products and shipping facilities.

Mr. Moran was informed that Plumas county was virtually deprived of a market through the mismanagement of the narrow gauge property, there being no co-operation with what should be its chief feeder, the Sierra Valleys road. Mr. Moran gave the impression that a better condition of things would soon prevail.

Whose Treat Is It?

In looking over the latest issue of the Lyon County Times the JOURNAL exchange editor discovered a lengthy dissertation on labor that appeared in this paper last week from the pen of the "old man," as every newspaper employe familiarly dubbs the editorial quill driver on his sheet. The strange thing about the clipping is the signature, which reads "William Jennings Bryan."

The exchange editor is now trying to figure out whether the soda water is on Bryan, the "old man" or the Lyon County Times.

A Dead Man Jailed.

Either the Reno correspondent of the associated press or the San Francisco Bulletin is guilty of a great big "bull." That paper stated stated Saturday evening, in describing the Second street tragedy:

"Paseman blew the whole top of his head off and is now in jail."

The Carson Fair.

The JOURNAL acknowledges the receipt of a complimentary ticket to the Ormsby County Agricultural Association district fair, which will be held September 25th to 29th, inclusive.

The best grade of Nevada honey is worth fourteen cents per pound in San Francisco. The honey crop is reported short this season all over the coast.—Genoa Courier.

Neither Useful or Beautiful.

The road bed of Virginia street has been placed in excellent condition through the business section. One thing only mars its beauty, namely the heaps of cobble stones that be in the gutterways. The chain gang could make a material improvement there in a few hours.
